Hamilton Indigenous Heritage Roundtable 2016
Going Beyond Consultation: Navigating Worldviews in the Search for Meaningful Engagement

Location: Art Gallery of Hamilton (123 King Street West)
Joey and Toby Tanenbaum Pavilion

This event is made possible thanks to generous support from the Ontario Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Sport

In October 2015, Moh-Kins-Tsis | Calgary Indigenous Heritage Roundtable brought together professionals and community members to understand how Indigenous and non-Indigenous protocols for protecting heritage places could be aligned. The Hamilton Indigenous Heritage Roundtable 2016, Going Beyond Consultation, will build on this momentum by drawing on Ontario case studies to understand how true relationships are built and nourished over time.

Key themes for the Roundtable:
- Advocating for strong relationships that are rooted in a shared understanding of world views.
- Understanding the meaning of place and the meaning of culture as it is shared between peoples.
- Articulating a new and productive vision for engagement. How do we make it work effectively so that it builds true understanding and meaningful dialogue?

Going Beyond Consultation will provide a valuable and important opportunity for exchange between traditional Indigenous conservation practitioners and those involved in conventional heritage practice, with the goal of strengthening existing relationships and forging new ones.

Roundtable Advisory Committee:
- Paul General (Co-Chair, Wildlife Manager, Six Nations Land & Resources)
- Carolyn King (Co-Chair, Former Chief, Mississaugas of the New Credit First Nation)
- Lorna Crowshoe (Alberta Governor, National Trust & Issues Strategist, Aboriginal Portfolio, City of Calgary)
- Beth Hanna (Chief Executive Officer, Ontario Heritage Trust)
- Rick Hill (Senior Project Coordinator, Deyohahá:ge Indigenous Knowledge Centre, Six Nations Polytechnic)
- Ian Kerr-Wilson (Manager, Heritage Resource Management, City of Hamilton)
- Sheri Longboat (Assistant Professor, School of Enviro. Design & Rural Development, University of Guelph)
- Dr. Gary Warrick (Associate Professor, Indigenous Studies, Laurier Brantford)
- Paula Whitlow (Museum Director, Woodland Cultural Centre)
- Dr. Ron Williamson (Chief Archaeologist & Managing Partner, ASI)

9:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.
Workshop – Building Strength: Regenerating Places of Faith

Location: Hamilton Convention Centre, Room 314

Places of faith anchor and shape our communities. Yet many congregations are facing declining attendance and insufficient funding to maintain and operate their historic buildings. These important community assets are in a period of transition across the country, and the Hamilton Region is no exception. What is their future? How can they continue to contribute in a positive way to their communities?

Whether it is to keep their doors open through renewed focus on missional work, collaborations to generate new revenue streams, or making strategic real estate decisions, or through meeting community needs under a new ownership structure, the future of these places depends on urgent collaboration among faith group leaders, community organizations, elected officials, the heritage and business communities, universities and more.

The National Trust for Canada and Faith & The Common Good are excited to offer this half-day workshop that will share inspiring examples from across the country and proven regeneration strategies and tools that can be applied to all types of places of faith, regardless of their ownership.
Workshop Leaders:
• Kendra Fry (Trinity-St. Paul’s Centre for Faith, Justice and the Arts)
• Robert Pajot (Project Leader, Regeneration, National Trust for Canada)

1:30 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Punching Above Your Weight: Fundraising for a Small Shop
Location: Hamilton Convention Centre, Room 314

Non-profits are under pressure to achieve increasing fundraising goals with limited resources in a sector where competition for donations is fierce. In this workshop learn how to make effective use of your resources to expand your audiences, attract new donors, and take advantage of evolving fundraising trends.

Workshop Leaders:
• Alison Faulknor (Director, New Initiatives, National Trust for Canada)
• Nhanci Wright (Fund Development Specialist, National Trust for Canada)

8:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.
Conservation of Metal Finishes in Modern Architecture
Location: Mattawa Industries (1632 Burlington St. E)

The analysis and restoration of original decorative finishes on modern architectural metals is not always well understood. As a result, such testing or treatment is less well integrated into regular preservation practice than that of other materials and finishes, particularly those in architectural contexts such as decorative painting or plasterwork.

This workshop presents an introductory approach to understanding, identifying, investigating and restoring original decorative architectural metal finishes. It includes case studies of successfully completed projects. It will also demonstrate how a variety of instruments from the small and relatively inexpensive (ultrasonic thickness gauge) to the large and highly sophisticated (x-ray fluorescence) can be used to help characterize both the nature and the relative condition of these finishes and their substrates. Additionally, there will be a hands-on workshop which will demonstrate different cleaning methods and materials that are available to the user.

Workshop Leaders:
• Joe Sembrat (Senior Executive Vice President & Senior Conservator, Conservation Solutions Inc.)
• Mark Rabinowitz (Executive Vice President, Conservation Solutions Inc.)

9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Downtowns Rising: Creative Solutions to Save Downtowns
Location: Lincoln Alexander Centre (160 King Street East)

Downtowns Rising will draw on expertise and case examples from Hamilton and North America, inspiring participants to imagine what is possible and arming them with creative solutions and best practices for downtown revitalization. The day will combine inspired plenary presentations with a series of mobile workshops.

Workshop Leaders:
• Justine Posluszny Bello (Vice President of Operations, Conservation Solutions Inc.)
• Kelly Caldwell (Conservator, Conservation Solutions Inc.)
• Kevin McSwain (Mattawa Industrial Services Inc.)

For more information: Natalie Bull nbull@nationaltrustcanada.ca
Keynote speaker: Mathew Wagner, Vice President, National Main Street Center, U.S National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Workshop Presenters:
• Jim Mountain (Director of Regeneration Projects, National Trust for Canada)
• Kay Matthews (Executive Director, Ontario BIA Association)
• Darren Shock (Director, Downtown Revitalization Program, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, Food, and Rural Affairs)
• Charles Ketchabaw (Tale of a Town Productions Canada 150 Main Street)
• Richard Allen (RENEW HAMILTON, Hamilton Chamber of Commerce)
• Glen Norton (Manager, City of Hamilton Urban Renewal, Planning & Economic Development Department)
• Susie Braithwaite (Executive Director, Hamilton International Village BIA)
• Ashleigh Bell (Curator Hamilton Re-Imagined Workshops)

Many historic sites open to the public are at a cross roads, faced with limited government funding, major capital costs and increased competition from more dynamic attractions. They must re-invent themselves or face a continued decline. Groups trying to save a beloved historic place at risk by opening it to the public are faced with an uphill battle to convince potential partners of its viability.

This workshop will explore creative new operational models being implemented in Canada and the United States, and will engage participants in exercises that demonstrate how their historic site can be transformed into a valued actor in the social and commercial fabric of their community.

Workshop Leaders:
• Ian Kerr-Wilson (Manager, Museums and Heritage Presentation, City of Hamilton)
• Franklin Vagnone (Co-author, The Anarchist’s Guide to House Museums & President, Twisted Preservation, New York, USA)
• Robert Pajot (Project Leader, Regeneration, National Trust for Canada)
• Julie Normandeau (Manager, Sites and Partnerships, National Trust for Canada)

Heritage academics and students meet to discuss issues relevant to heritage education and training in Canada.

Settling in areas where work and affordable housing were available, immigrants shaped the landscape of North Hamilton in particular. Community organizations and religious institutions were established to support the needs of these communities. “Worker” housing was built to provide immigrants with homes close to the mills and factories. Centers of entertainment, education and dining were tailored to the newly arrived.

Session 2C – CAHP Session - Engineering in the World of Heritage
Stream: Adaptation and Renewal
Location: Webster C

The importance of sensitive engineering design is often overlooked when tackling a heritage project. With project sizes ranging from a tiny cottage of several hundred square feet to prominent national landmarks, the approaches and methodologies used to evaluate and assess these buildings present unique challenges. Charged with the task of protecting not only the visible aesthetic of the building, but also with minimizing the impact to the often unseen building systems, the engineer works to strike a tenuous balance between the buildings of the past and the requirements of the present. During this session we will dig deeper into the specifics of these challenges and examine what is being done well, and what can be done better.

Session 2E – National Forum on Heritage Planning – What is the Role of Municipal Heritage Planning in Communities and Society?
Stream: Discussion Hothouse
Location: Room 314

What is the role of municipal heritage planning in communities and society? Do we have an obligation to meaningfully connect the conservation of tangible and intangible cultural heritage to achieving broader social, cultural, environmental and economic goals in community planning and development projects? Where are there success stories in Canada that link heritage with other community benefits such as special needs and low-income housing, protection of cultural and ethnic districts, climate change and energy resiliency, and inner city and main street revitalization? This Roundtable explores what we can learn from accomplishments around the country and how we might ‘change the conversation’ in places where heritage is not seen as a priority through the integration of heritage in community
plans, policy, and projects. Session Leaders: Helen Cain (Planner II, Policy Planning, City of Richmond, BC) & Stephen Ashton (Planner II, Downtown Development, Town of Whitby, ON)

Session 4F – Field Session – Hamilton City Hall
Stream: Offsite
Location: Field Session will depart from the HCC’s ground floor lobby promptly at 3:30pm
Hamilton City Hall (71 Main St. W., Hamilton) is a testament to the resiliency of mid-century modernist buildings in Canada and an indication of how the heritage movement in Canada is also changing – it is one of few buildings from the 1960s to receive a heritage designation under the Ontario Heritage Act. Built in 1960, Hamilton City Hall was designed by then City Architect Stanley Roscoe in the International Style. The building is defined by its formal qualities, use of curtain wall and flat roof, and the elimination of elaborate ornamentation.

In 2007 the City elected to update Roscoe’s design to 1) create a civic centre for the amalgamated municipality; 2) improve the building’s energy performance; 3) enable physical accessibility for all citizens and; 4) meet contemporary technological and service requirements. Paul Sapounzi from +VG Architects will lead the tour around the grounds and through the restored and rehabilitated interiors. Paul will share some of the challenges the project team faced during the design and construction process including 1) the relocation of services; 2) provision of insulation for exterior walls and installation of high efficiency systems; 3) upgrades to meet current O.B.C. requirements, including accessibility and; 4) the numerous separate heritage permits that were processed by the City for the project.

10:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.
Stream: Discussion Hothouse
Location: Lister Block (28 James Street North)

Field Session will depart from the HCC’s ground floor lobby promptly at 10:15am
Heritage conservation is increasingly at the forefront of dialogue around development pressures and changing patterns of urban development. Each municipality faces unique challenges that are best met with unique solutions for identifying and conserving community-focused heritage. Sophisticated and sensitive approaches to managing pressures while preserving social and cultural values are necessary. This workshop is intended to serve as a discussion forum and brainstorming session for heritage conservation practitioners who work with urban heritage.

During this workshop, heritage conservation staff at the City of Hamilton will discuss one of the ways they are responding to urban development pressure at a citywide level, using emerging inventory, characterization, consultation and mapping strategies, as well as new digital technologies, to understand neighborhood heritage in cost-effective, but integrative ways. Following the classroom session, there will be a walk around Beasley, one of Hamilton’s historic downtown neighborhoods that has been inventoried and assessed.
