On behalf of the Board of the Association for Preservation Technology (APT) and the National Trust for Canada, we are delighted to welcome you to the APT-National Trust Joint Conference Montréal 2024.

We are pleased to present this conference with the Canadian Association of Heritage Professionals (CAHP) and the Indigenous Heritage Circle, both long-time National Trust conference partners whose work enriches and diversifies the conference for all.

We are thrilled to host this year's conference in a city renowned for its rich layers of Indigenous and settler history and vibrant cultural landscapes. Montréal, with its unique blend of heritage and innovation, embodies the spirit of our theme: "Building Bridges: Connecting Places, Cultures, & Practices." This theme underscores the importance of linking diverse preservation practices, fostering cross-cultural exchanges, and enhancing our understanding of the heritage places we work to preserve.

Over the next few days, you will have the opportunity to immerse yourself in a variety of insightful sessions and events. From thought-provoking keynote addresses to interactive workshops, our program is designed to provide valuable perspectives on contemporary preservation methods and the transformation of the heritage field in response to social change, climate imperatives, changing technologies and more. The conference will offer practical knowledge, innovative solutions, and challenging perspectives while celebrating the intersection of diverse cultural and heritage preservation practices.

We encourage you to engage deeply with the content, connect with your peers, and explore Montréal's rich historical and cultural tapestry. The insights and connections you gain here will be instrumental in advancing and transforming our collective mission to preserve and celebrate our shared heritage.

Thank you for joining us. We look forward to an inspiring and impactful conference with all of you!

TERRITORIAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We respectfully acknowledge that the conference takes place on unceded Indigenous lands. The Kanien'kehá:ka/Mohawk Nation is recognized as the stewards of the lands and waters of this territory. Tiohtià:ke/Montréal has long been a place where meetings and exchanges among Indigenous peoples have occurred. Indigenous people from the local community and beyond have shaped and are participating at the conference, joining in our collective work towards Building Bridges.

Félicitations à nos lauréats !

Indigenous Heritage Circle
Cercle du patrimoine autochtone

The Indigenous Heritage Circle (IHC), founded in 2016, is dedicated to the advancement of cultural heritage priorities that are of importance to Métis, Inuit, and First Nations Peoples in Canada. Working with partners from many Indigenous communities, the IHC developed a holistic definition of Indigenous heritage that emphasizes connections, relationships and values.

Le Cercle du patrimoine autochtone (CPA), fondé en 2016, se consacre à l'avancement des priorités en matière de patrimoine culturel qui sont importantes pour les Métis, les Inuits et les Premières Nations au Canada. En collaboration avec des partenaires issus de nombreuses communautés autochtones, le CPA a élaboré une définition holistique du patrimoine autochtone qui met l'accent sur les liens, les relations et les valeurs.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Events: Most conference events will take place at Le Centre Sheraton Hotel Montréal across three floors. The agenda includes room locations and events that are off-site. We have floor plan maps available at registration.

Events with fees ($): Space permitting, you may still register for a workshop, field sessions, tours, and/or purchase special event (SE) tickets at the registration desk. Look for the ($) symbol for any events that require an additional fee.

Meals: Your full Conference registration includes food served at the Exhibit Hall, listed joint continental breakfasts or joint buffet lunches, and refreshment breaks. Breakfast and lunch are included in workshops (WS1, WS2, WS3) and some field sessions. Meals on your own are a great opportunity to see Montréal! We have maps of the downtown area showing places of interest available at registration, make sure you pick one up!

Simultaneous Interpretation (English to French & French to English): This joint conference is bringing together two languages - English and French - across the programming. Many sessions and events will have interpretation services available. We invite you to visit registration to reserve an interpretation device. Sessions marked with  will have interpretation services available.

Attire: Most events call for business casual. Field sessions may combine both indoor and outdoor locations, so it is recommended you dress in layers and wear good walking shoes. Some field sessions require particular clothing, safety or security-related items. Name badges are required at all conference events.

Guests: Registered guests will receive a badge which must be worn during the Conference. Guest registration includes general Conference events and provided meals, but does not include concurrent sessions or any special events with a fee to attend.

Conference mobile app: Make sure you download the mobile app! Not only is it needed to obtain CE credit, you can take notes, access your schedule, see a great map of Montréal, a map of the exhibit hall, connect with other attendees and receive program updates through push notifications. See the next page for details on downloading the Conference mobile app. Mobile App Assistance: Visit the registration desk during regular hours.

Lost and Found: Will be located at Conference registration, level 4, during regular hours.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

APT is an approved provider for the following professional continuing education (CE) credits: AIA and RCEP. Continuing Education Certificates can be obtained via the mobile app after completing evaluations for each session attended. Hours will be reported to AIA or RCEP based on your certificate after November 16, 2024.

AIA
Continuing Education Provider

PLEASE READ- Important AIA/RCEP Continuing Education Credit Process

In order to receive CE credits for attending education sessions, each attendee MUST check themselves into a session utilizing a smartphone and the Conference mobile app (see instructions below).

Upon arriving to each session that offers CE units, you must check in using this year's version of the mobile app. Before entering a session room, scan the QR code posted directly outside of the room or the screen inside the room. Field sessions or workshops will provide the QR codes on the bus or at the venue. This code will be posted for the FIRST 15 MINUTES of each session only. Individuals arriving AFTER the first 15 minutes of a session are not eligible for and therefore will NOT be allowed to check in to receive CE credit for that session per AIA/RCEP program rules.

Once a session is complete, attendees MUST complete the session survey available via the mobile app in order to receive the CE credit (see instructions below). Attendees are free to move between sessions and thus may attend more than one session in a given time block. HOWEVER, due to AIA program rules, CE credit can only be given for the first session checked into and which also has a completed session survey.

To receive CE credit, ALL session surveys MUST be completed by Monday, December 16, 2024. Surveys completed after this time will not receive CE credits.

MOBILE APP

HOW TO GET STARTED WITH THE MOBILE APP

1. Download the eventScribe app

- a. Scan the QR code.
- b. Search for "APT-National Trust Joint Conference Montréal 2024."

2. Ways to access the mobile app

- a. Refer to the email sent by eventScribe to login with your email and provided password.
- b. Use the email you used to register for the conference as your Username. Click "Forgot Password" to have your password sent to your email.
- c. Email registration@apti.org to have your password reset and sent to you.

3. Set up your profile and schedule

- a. Please set up your profile as it will help others to connect and collaborate with you.
- b. In addition to checking in for CE credits, in the app you can set up a personalized schedule, connect with other attendees, download your CE certificates, and explore Montréal.

4. Check in to applicable sessions for CE credits:

- a. Open your Conference mobile app. (Make sure you're logged in.)
- b. Tap the hamburger (3 horizontal lines) in the top right corner.
- c. Tap the QR Code Scanner icon.
- d. Scan the QR code being displayed at the session room, bus, or venue.
- e. Once the session pops up on your mobile app, tap the "Check In" icon on the bottom. You're all checked in!

5. Need help? Visit the Registration Desk during regular registration hours

NOTE: You cannot register for extra events via the mobile app; that needs to be done at the Conference registration desk.

SPECIAL EVENTS

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13

KS1: Welcome & Opening Keynote

6:00pm-8:00pm; Ballroom, Level 4

1LU

The Conference will be opened by a Kanien'kehá (Mohawk) speaker who will give the Ohén:ten Kariwatéhkwen or Haudenosaunee Thanksgiving Address - translated as "The Words That Come Before All Else" - as is customary when meeting on this land. The keynote panel that follows will provide critical insights into the current challenges facing heritage and preservation practice in Montréal, as well as the innovative approaches to address them.

Welcomes:

Otsi'tsakèn:ra (Charles Patton)

Otsi'tsakèn:ra is a respected Elder of the Kanien'kehá:ka community of Kahnawá:ke, on the south shore of Otsira:ke (Hochelaga/Montréal). He has been involved in spiritual and civic affairs of the Ronathate Kanien'kehá:ka (Mohawk Trail) Longhouse for over 45 years, and is committed to ensuring the continuance of Kanien'kehá:ka tradition, language, spirituality, ceremony and culture.

Ericka Alneus

City Councillor for Rosemont-Le Petite-Patrie Borough, she is a member of the City of Montréal's Executive Committee and member responsible for Culture and Heritage

Keynotes:

Katsi'tsakwas Ellen Gabriel

Launching her public activism during the 1990 Siege of Kanehsatà:ke, Ms. Gabriel is an advocate for gender equity, climate action, and justice for murdered and missing Indigenous women and climate action, and an award-winning filmmaker. She was elected President of the Quebec Native Women's Association (2004 - 2010).

Dinu Bumbaru

Since 1982, Dinu has worked as Policy Director at Héritage Montréal, an organization dedicated to promoting and renewing the city's architectural and urban heritage. He has served as Secretary General of ICOMOS and is currently Vice-President of the Institut de politiques alternatives de Montréal (IPAM).

Track 1: From the Drawing Board to the Worksite: Techniques, Materials, and Practitioners

Successful projects rely on experience, expertise, and a thorough understanding of place, while often demanding a deep technical understanding of materials and assemblies. Research, material testing, and/or modeling are commonly used to synthesize solutions. This track highlights the performance of traditional and modern materials, as well as repair techniques. Demonstration of successful innovation and/or holistic preservation principles, as well as failures, are welcome, as both inform and further our collective knowledge.

Track 2: Historic Structures Meeting Contemporary Requirements

Preserving buildings often requires adapting to new programs and uses, but also new expectations in terms of performance, comfort, and safety, which present challenges and opportunities in both form and materials. This track explores adaptive reuse and changing codes and standards for historic structures that present technical challenges which designers must resolve.

Track 3: Climate Imperative for Historic Buildings and Places

As the world becomes more sensitive to the changing climate and aware of the impacts of carbon, professionals in the preservation professions are being pushed to find innovative, technically defensible, and sound responses for existing heritage structures. This track explores how professionals can contribute to the resilience of existing buildings, the value-of embodied carbon through retaining existing materials, improving operational carbon performance, and the cultural and environmental value of historic buildings.

Track 4: Heritage and Social Justice: Reconciliation, Diversity, and Inclusion

While the heritage conservation sector has successfully inspired and empowered people to protect heritage places, many perspectives and narratives have been marginalized or excluded. How can heritage professionals, site operators, advocates, policymakers, and others address legacies of erasure, rectify biased practices, and create a truly inclusive culture of conservation? This track explores how new social and ethical imperatives are transforming historic preservation, including what is defined as heritage, and by whom.

Track 5: Removing Systemic Barriers to Heritage-Led Reuse

When the state of the economy, development industry, government policies, and community concerns are in sync, they create a “climate” for conservation and reuse, which shapes what is possible. In many jurisdictions, heritage is seen as a cost versus an investment, conservation a barrier to reuse, and heritage protection an elitist NIMBY tool shielding affluent areas from increased urban density. How can the heritage sector be more effective at removing systemic barriers to reuse, leveling the playing field to compete with new construction, and ensuring equal access to heritage conservation expertise for all income brackets? How can the preservation sector ensure heritage standards and processes are part of the solution, not the problem? This track focuses on changing the system for urban and rural heritage places, and identifying how the heritage sector can realign its work to have broad societal impact.

SPECIAL FORMATS

Indigenous Heritage Circle Sessions:

This stream is open to all, and we encourage any interested conference attendees to come and participate. The sessions offered will address each of the conference tracks in their own respects. This conference stream has been co-organized by the IHC and the National Trust for Canada in hopes of highlighting the Indigenous heritage perspective at the conference.

Spark Sessions:

Inspired by Pecha Kucha and Ignite events, Spark sessions have been a fixture at National Trust conferences for the past decade. These sessions give presenters the opportunity to showcase their best, most innovative and exciting projects and insights in a fast-paced and dynamic atmosphere. Presentations are grouped in thematic clusters followed by short question and answer periods.

On the eve of ICOMOS Canada's 50th Anniversary in 2025, this roundtable aims to bring together individuals who, in recent decades, have left their mark on the cultural heritage community in Canada, particularly within ICOMOS Canada. In a context of cultural, social, environmental, and economic change, the aim is to discuss,
evaluate and consider the role, position,
operation and sustainability of ICOMOS
Canada, in order to ensure the continuation
- or adjustment - of the mission of this organization, recognized nationally and internationally for its contribution to heritage policy and expertise.
